Few human responses are as warm, endearing and genuine as a smile. A smile is a window into your personality. A smile draws people to you. A smile is contagious.

A smile relieves stress. Smiles make the world a little friendlier. And a smile has the power to change a person completely.

The bad news: not all smiles are perfect.
The good news: they all can be.

Discolored or crooked teeth, chipped or missing teeth, or other imperfections can make a person very self-conscious about smiling. Luckily, these imperfections can easily be corrected with cosmetic dentistry. Whether through teeth whitening, porcelain veneers, porcelain crowns or inlays, there are a variety of cosmetic procedures that will not only transform your smile, but your whole outlook on life. A confident, attractive smile can improve your self-esteem, your social life, and your business life.

Before: Patient had moderate crowding of her front teeth.

After: Using full porcelain crowns on the center two teeth and porcelain veneers on the two adjacent teeth, I was able to give the illusion her teeth are straight.

Before: Patient had been involved in an accident, which knocked the two center teeth out and damaged adjacent teeth.

After: Using full porcelain crowns on the two center teeth and porcelain veneers on the teeth on either side, I made his teeth look attractive and straight again.

Before: Patient had previous braces and teeth had moved again, leaving spaces between all six of his front teeth.

After: Using porcelain veneers on the six front teeth, I was able to close all the spaces and improve the tooth size, giving a pleasing esthetic result.

Trust me when I say cosmetic dentistry can change your life. It changed mine.

For many years I had ugly teeth, the result of a childhood accident. I hated my smile. I hated my teeth. Until one day, I made the decision to have my teeth whitened and have porcelain veneers put on. The decision was the best thing I've ever done for myself. I've been smiling ever since.

A minor procedure. A major difference.

If you're unhappy with your teeth or your smile, please give my office a call. Our services include teeth whitening, porcelain veneers, porcelain crowns, inlays/onlays and tooth-colored fillings. I'll consult with you to answer any questions you may have about cosmetic dentistry and alleviate any concerns. Then, we'll discuss the best procedure to make your smile absolutely gorgeous. Just think, you're only a small procedure away from a lifetime of smiles.
